

Q&A: School of Public Policy Information Session

Is it possible to be on the health track at SPP and fulfill the requirements for medical school without having to take a large number of additional courses?

Great question. Yes, many of our students go into careers in health care after graduation. We have a health track and a social track. From there you can take the required pre-med courses. We also have a Health Professions Advising Center on campus that can work with you directly on your application.

Do you recommend studying public policy for a student who is interested in going to law school after their undergraduate studies?

This is a great question. We also have several internships with the DA's office and the Riverside County Counsel.

If my track focus is health policy- is there a health focus internship?

Camille great questions. Yes, we have internships through Kaiser, the department of Public Health in Riverside and the Department of Public and Social Services. We also have students intern at local health nonprofits like Planned Parenthood, Riverside Community Health Foundation and the American Lung Association.

Can you transfer all AP credits?

Great question. YES, You can download the UCR course catalog for the 2019-2020 school year and look on page 38. This will give you a breakdown of each AP exam and how they will count. Look at the section that says College of Humanities, Arts and Social Sciences. Hope that this helps. If you have further questions contact spp-advising@ucr.edu
